Scoring fields shown

Your pasted line:

suggests:

- "Total Score" and "Averaged Score" columns exist but the numerical values were not captured or copied.

To turn this into a visual certificate, paste this wording into any free martial arts certificate template (for example, from common online certificate/template sites) and customize fonts, borders, and logos to match your school or event branding.[13] [14] [11]

Choose a martial art style for the certificate

For this certificate, a strong choice is Karate as the martial art style.

Why Karate fits well

- Karate is widely recognized and commonly associated with weapons kata (bo, sai, tonfa, etc.), so it pairs naturally with a weapons division result.[21] [22]
- Karate-themed certificate layouts, fonts, and kanji elements are easy to find and adapt on common martial arts certificate template sites.[23] [24]

How to phrase it on the certificate

You can add a line like:

- Style: Karate – Weapons Division
- Or in the title: Karate Weapons Competition Certificate

If you want a different vibe (e.g., more Chinese or performance-oriented), good alternates would be Kung Fu/Wushu or Taekwondo, but Karate will be the most straightforward and universally understood choice.[25] [21]
